Man Shot As Result Of Family Argument

What apparently had been a family argument resulted in the wounding of Willard Adams, Jr., 28, at 2:10 Thursday afternoon on Roachdale, Route 1.

James M. Houck, Putnam County Prosecutor, said that the shooting occurred at the home of Mrs. Wilma Morpew, mother-in-law of Adams.

A shot from a 22-caliber rifle passed through Adams' stomach, entering from the left front. He was brought to the Putnam County Hospital and then transferred to Robert Long Hospital in Indianapolis. Houck said that Adams' wife, Joan; her younger sister, Paulette, and Vonnice Webb were present at the time of the shooting.

Authorities are conducting an investigation and Houck said that the stories of the witnesses were conflicting.

State Trooper John Danberry and Deputy Sheriff Paul Mason conducted a preliminary investigation at the Morpew home.

Masonic Session At Fairgrounds

All Master Masons of Putnam County are invited to be the guests of the Scottish Rite Valley of Terre Haute at the Putnam County Fairgrounds, Wednesday, Sept. 22, at 6:30 p. m.

There will be an hour of old-fashioned Masonic fellowship around the barbecue pit. The food will be served family style with all the trimmings.

The Scottish Rite Valley of Terre Haute has just been awarded concurrent jurisdiction in Putnam, Warren, Owen, and Fountain Counties.

The Scottish Rite members want the Master Masons to learn what the organization has to offer, what it does and what it can do for Masons who are eligible to join.

DePauw Books Many Speakers

A parade of distinguished speakers and performers off the international and domestic firing line has been booked for DePauw University's first semester convocation program.

Back for a repeat lecture on the heels of last year's standing room only appearance, formed U.N. General Assembly president Charles Malik of Lebanon headlines the 27-date, twice-a-week scheduled.

Government officials, theologians, actors and educators from seven nations comprise the public series. It opens Sunday when President William E. Kerstetter addresses an all-university worship chapel.

Former Vietnam ambassador Tranh Van Dinh, Comsat Corp. vice president John Johnson, and Czechoslovakian theologian Milan Opocensky indicate the diversity of backgrounds being brought to the DePauw platform.

The university - underwritten convocations are held each Wednesday and Friday at 10 a. m. in Gobin Methodist Church and Meharry Hall, respectively.

Funeral Sunday For Lucy Holt

Mrs. Lucy H. Holt, who resided at 28 Sunset Drive, passed away in the Putnam County Hospital Thursday night where she had been admitted on September 1.

She was a member of the Sherwood Christian Church, and a devoted wife and mother.

Survivors are the husband, William; one daughter, Mrs. Wilma Bryan, Greencastle; two sons, Donald, Manhattan and Robert, Olympia, Washington; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Surber, Indianapolis and Mrs. Laura Vaught, California; one brother, Charles Vanhook, Arizona, and eleven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2:00 p. m. at the Hopkins-Walton Funeral Home. Rev. Elgin Smith will officiate. Interment will be in Brick Chapel Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home on Saturday.

Fighting Fierce In India, Pakistan War

By United Press International

Pakistan said today its army was pressing a "relentless" drive against Indian forces in the Indian state of Punjab. An official Pakistani spokesman claimed the offensive had turned the tide of the widening ground war.

In the air, Indian and Pakistani planes crisscrossed the frontier between India and West Pakistan on a series of raids against cities and military bases.

Indian air force bombers attacked Karachi, the main Pakistani seaport, Thursday night for the seventh time in the past three days. Noise of exploding bombs echoed from the waterfront.

Well-informed sources in New Delhi said Pakistani jet bombers tried to attack a vital military base outside Ghaziabad east of the capital today but were driven off by heavy anti-aircraft fire.

One Pakistani plane was shot down, informed sources said. Pakistani planes were said to have attempted a paratroop drop but apparently were forced away by the intensity of the flak.

Pakistan launched a three-pronged offensive into Punjab state Thursday, apparently to relieve some of the pressure from an earlier Indian drive against the Pakistani city of Lahore. Both sides issued conflicting reports on the battles, but it appeared the fighting

Quarterly Meeting

Brick Chapel had their first Quarterly Conference Tuesday. There was a splendid attendance. Plans for the year were discussed with Rev. Ralph Steele presiding.

A ballot was taken as to the time for the services on Sunday and the majority vote indicated that the Sunday School would continue at 9:30 and the Worship service at 10:30. The pastor will be preaching Sunday morning.

Crucial Vote

WASHINGTON UPI — The Senate planned a crucial vote today on the cotton section of the 1965 farm bill. It appeared as though the Johnson administration would emerge victorious over Chairman Allen J. Ellender of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Cong Concentration Is Target Of U. S. Bombs

SAIGON UPI — U. S. and Vietnamese Special Forces today occupied Phuong Xa Tay hamlet 325 miles northeast of Saigon only hours after B52 bombers from Guam dumped hundreds of tons of bombs there. Until today it had been an impenetrable Communist stronghold.

SAIGON UPI — U. S. Air Force B52 bombers from Guam flew their 21st mission of the war today, blasting Communist targets in South Viet Nam near the Ho Chi Minh trail.

A U. S. military spokesman identified the target of the B52 raid as a suspected Viet Cong concentration in Quang Tin Province 325 miles northeast of Saigon. This would place it on the northern edge of the Viet Cong's Do Xa base which guards the infiltration route from North Viet Nam.

Recent B52 attacks have been followed up with ground sweep by South Vietnamese troops to mop up and assess damage.

In other action U. S. Marines and South Vietnamese infantrymen moved into the fourth day of "Operation Piranha," a search and destroy assault against guerrillas entrenched on Ba Lang An peninsula 20 miles south of the Leatherneck base at Chu Lai.

Military spokesmen reported that the offensive has killed 167 guerrillas. Forty-five others were captured and 168 suspects arrested. American and Vietnamese casualties were said to be "light."

But four Americans were killed Thursday when Communist small arms fire downed a U. S. helicopter in the Mekong River delta 80 miles southwest of Saigon.

In Saigon, a terrorist tossed a hand grenade at two policemen during a power blackout Thursday night, injuring a Vietnamese woman and three Vietnamese children. The policemen were not hurt.

Cook Chairman Of County Young GOP

Sauer Successor To Joe McCord

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — Governor Branigin has named Dr. Donald H. Sauer, 38, Bloomington, to succeed Joseph McCord, 71, Greencastle, as director of the Indiana Department of Financial Institutions.

Sauer is chairman of the Department of Banking and Finance in the Indiana University School of Business.

McCord had been director of the state department since 1945 and had worked for the department for the past 36 years.

McCord announced his retirement effective Oct. 1. A native of Daviess County, McCord formerly was assistant cashier of a Loogootee bank and then worked for the Internal Revenue Service before joining the old State Banking Department in 1929.

Sauer was formerly president and currently a director of the Midwest Finance Association.

Knightstown Trip

Members of Cassell C Tucker Post 58 American Legion will go to Knightstown Sunday. The group will leave the Post Home at 9 a. m.

Anyone needing transportation is asked to call the Post not later than Saturday evening.

Commander Harold Dunn urges members and families to plan on making the trip.

Charles Cook, Colverdale, has been appointed Chairman of the Putnam County Young Republicans according to announcement by County GOP Chairman, Bob Poor. Mrs. Warren Harlan has also been appointed Vice Chairman of the YR, according to Chairman Poor, Mrs. Harlan is, in addition, Vice Chairman of the 6th District Young Republican organization.

Cook, who is an employee of P. R. Mallory, is planning a county-wide membership drive.

Small groups in various Putnam County Communities will soon be organized to operate within the framework of the Young GOP organization, thereby broadening the base of the organization and increasing the activity and service at the smaller community level.

To kick off the Young GOP membership drive, Chairman Cook has announced that the organization will have a booth on the square during Greencastle's upcoming Roaring Twenties celebrated next Friday and Saturday, September 17 and 18. All young voters and potential voters between the ages of 18 and 35 are invited to visit the booth and join the Young Republicans organization.

$923 Robbery At Bloomington

BLOOMINGTON UPI — Police here said two men in their 20s Thursday escaped with $923 from the Local Finance Co. office in downtown Bloomington after binding and gagging three employees of the firm.

Authorities said the men were both Negroes and one of them was armed. They said the employees told them the other man carried a paper bag from which he got the white surgical tape which the pair used to tie the three persons and gag their mouths.

LOVELESS TO SHOW PAINTINGS

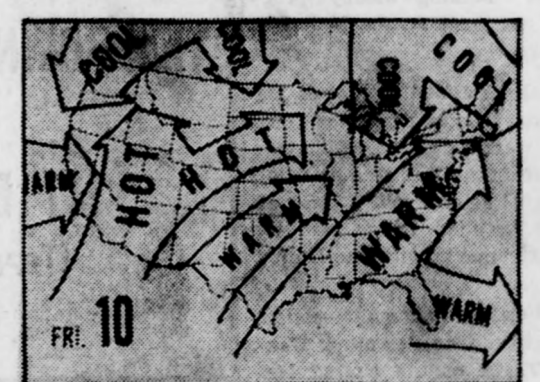

Paintings by James K. Loveless will be on display starting Sunday at 7:30 p. m. to September 30 in the DePauw Student Union Building.

James Loveless graduated from DePauw University in 1957. In 1960 he completed his MFA from Indiana University. After leaving Indiana Mr. Loveless taught at Hope College in Holland, Michigan, serving as chairman of the art department from 1961-1964. Last year Mr. Loveless and his family moved to Lexington, Kentucky where he is an assistant professor of art at the University of Kentucky.

Editorial-Wise That Gen. DeGaulle

President Charles de Gaulle has warned that France will end its "subordination" to its NATO allies by 1969 at the latest.

De Gaulle has not threatened to pull France out of NATO but he is making it clear that he will demand sweeping changes in the North Atlantic Treaty when it comes up for renewal four years from now.

He charges that the "subordination" places the destinies of France "in the hands of foreigners."

He did say that France believes a Western alliance for the defense of Europe will be necessary for a long time to come.

Evidently, the General feels that his country and the other West European nations can get along without the United States and its economic and military might.

In this aspect, Gen. De Gaulle apparently stands alone. It is doubtful that the majority of Frenchmen share his opinion.

He still has not announced whether he plans to run for a second seven-year term in December.

His position as to NATO could have a strong bearing, if he should run, on victory or defeat at the hands of the French voters.

A Local Teenager's View

(By Janet Staub)

Hey you, just throw your cares away; the annual Greencastle Fair - on the - Square is just around the corner.

A gigantic parade is planned with some beautiful trophies (now on display in the Chamber of Commerce's window) being offered.

In case you have forgotten, the time being portrayed is the "Roaring Twenties." With so many people knowing something about how the people dressed "way back then," the apparel worn by clerks and customers should be very colorful. Many organizations have planned booths to be in operation during this affair.

The many committees have worked very hard planning this, so everyone should, if at all possible, attend.

The "Fair" will get under way Friday morning and will end (you know what they always say - all good things must come to an end) Saturday night.

The dates of the Fair are September 17 and 18. So, I'll see you there - at the Fair-on-the-Square.

DID YOU NOTICE? Another Football game this Friday - be sure to attend.

Injuries Fatal

INDIANAPOLIS UPI—Doris Haggard, 54, Indianapolis, died in a Capital City hospital Wednesday of injuries she suffered Monday when she fell from a second-story window at her home.

--Fierce Fighting

was fierce.

The main thrust of the Pakistani onslaught appeared directed at Amritsar, an Indian city 30 miles east of Lahore and 15 miles inside the international border. It was here Pakistan claimed Indian forces were routed under "relentless pressure."

India admitted Pakistani counter-attacks and "very heavy fighting" but reported its forces "making steady progress" on three fronts, including Lahore.

It also claimed a total of 114 Pakistani tanks destroyed since open warfare flared. India has charged that Pakistan is using many Patton and Sherman tanks supplied under military aid agreements with the United States.

The claims and counter-claims were issued as Secretary General Thant of the United Nations pressed his urgent peace mission on the sub-continent. Thant conferred with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan Thursday and is scheduled to fly to New Delhi for talks with Indian leaders at a later date.

The other two prongs of the Pakistani offensive were directed at Ferozepore, an important Indian rail junction 30 miles south of Amritsar, and Jassar, 50 miles north of the Lahore area.

Wife Must Have Hubby's Consent To Vote In PTA

SANTA FE, N. M. UPI—Mother, if you like to vote in school elections stay away from New Mexico.

In New Mexico you may not vote in school elections unless father says okay. What's more the PTA is powerless to complain.

You may vote for the president, for congressmen, state, county and city officials. But when you walk into the polling place to cast your ballot for local school board members, the men have to authorize permission.

This is all because of an archaic bit of language written into New Mexico's state constitution, plus the fact that the 19th Amendment to the Constitution doesn't concern itself with school elections.

The New Mexico constitution says that men may elect to allow women the right to vote for school board members. They may elect the reverse also. Nothing has ever reversed the provision.

It's doubtful that New Mexico's mothers are planning a march from Albuquerque to Santa Fe in protest, but the state's women always have had a tough time voting. This state was one of the last to ratify the 19th Amendment which gave women the right to vote 45 years ago.

Unlike other western states which tended to offer women the best opportunity to win access to ballot boxes, New Mexico was one of the last states to ratify the so-called Susan B. Anthony Amendment. When a vote came in a five-day special session of the New Mexico Legislature Feb. 19, 1920, it was by no means overwhelming—17-5 in the New Mexico senate and 36-10 in the house.

Attempts to secure suffrage for women consistently were defeated during the territorial period of 1846-1912. Even the state's constitutional convention of 1910 excluded women from the polls. The only allowance in the basic document was that women might vote in school elections if the men approved.

Much of the opposition sprung naturally from the Spanish traditions that said women should not take an active part in "men's affairs."

But the state's newspapers waged a relentless battle in behalf of the women. One Albuquerque society writer in 1919 wrote, "The feminine contingent is at hand, and a gleaming white, uncorruptible vote will mingle with the numerous masculine ballots of all shades."

Miss Nevada Wins Second Round Swimsuit Competition

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. UPI—Nevada's Kathryn Balikie, the tall shapely granddaughter of a minister, slipped into a fiery red outfit Thursday night to win second round swimsuit competition in the 1966 Miss America Pageant.

Miss South Carolina, 18-year-old Nancy Moore, won Thursday night's second round talent event with a quick-tempo piano arrangement of the "Miss America" theme song. She said she had practiced the number for 14 months on a rented piano.

Preliminary competition in the 39th finals ends tonight. Semi-finals, finals and the crowning of the 1966 Miss American are slated Saturday.

Statuesque Miss Nevada, Kathryn Balikie, whose 5-10 1/2 frame sports 36-24-36 statistics, is the tallest in the 50 girl competition. She said she "eats and eats and eats" without damaging her charmingly curvy silhouette.

"I felt great out there. Not bad at all. I'm used to being in a bathing suit," said the deeply tanned Nevada from Carson City. "I do a lot of swimming in nearby Lake Tahoe." She said she acquired her striking red suit two years ago when she became first runnerup in the Miss Lake Tahoe contest. The brown-haired, brown-eyed Miss Balikie's grandfather was a Presbyterian minister. Her father is a school administrator at a University of Nevada town. She, she hopes to go into high fashion designing and modeling.

Curvy, blonde Miss Mississippi, Patsy Puckett, won the opening night swim suit competition.

Miss Moore, a blue-eyed ash blonde, is a Duke University sophomore who has been a pianist for 10 years. She said at her rehearsal Thursday, "I know I'm not going to win tonight, but I hope I can pick up enough points to make the 10 semi-finalists."

FBI Fugitive Dies In Wreck

MOUNT WASHINGTON, Ky. UPI—A fleeing accused killer on the "10 most wanted list" of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was killed late Thursday night when his car left the highway during a high speed police chase south of here.

Warren Cleveland Osborne, 45, Nashville, Tenn., wanted for the fatal shooting of a Nashville beauty shop operator last year, was thrown from the vehicle and was dead when pursuing officers arrived at the crash scene.

Mount Washington Police Chief William F. Judd, 36, said $22,000 was found on Osborne's person and in the car. Bernard Brown, special agent in charge of the FBI at Louisville, said officers were investigating to determine the possible source of the money.

Judd said Osborne had tried either to fire at his pursuing cruiser or throw a weapon from the vehicle during the chase.

Judd said he recognized Osborne as a fugitive wanted by the FBI from posters sent out by the federal agency. He notified Kentucky State Police who in turn called the FBI.

Display Document

WASHINGTON UPI—The Magna Carta—the first written guarantee of individual rights—goes on display at the National Archives next week. The priceless British document, one of the three existing copies of the Magna Carta, will be exhibited in connection with the Washington world conference on world peace through law.

The display opens to the public Sept. 14 and continues until the end of October.

Indiana Traffic Toll Now 963

By United Press International
An Eastern High School of Greene County athlete was killed in a car-school bus crash and a boy died of previous injuries to boost the 1965 Indiana traffic toll to at least 963, compared with 879 deaths recorded by this date a year ago.

Police said John Shear, 3, Muncie, died at Ball Memorial Hospital in his hometown of injuries he suffered Aug. 27 when his bicycle was struck by an auto driven by Olive Richardson, 45, Muncie, on a city street.

The boy died a short time after Daniel Ashcraft, 16, Owensburg, died en route to Freeman Greene County Hospital of injuries he suffered when his auto skidded broadside into a school bus loaded with more than 40 children.

Authorities said Ashcraft apparently lost control of the auto on Indiana 43 about 25 miles east of Linton and a mile north of Indiana 54 as he rounded a curve. They said the vehicle then skidded broadside into the bus, driven by Charles Glidden, 52, Solsberry.

James Harper, 17, Owensburg, a passenger in Ashcraft's auto, was injured in the wreck and reported in satisfactory condition at the same hospital.

Authorities said not a single child aboard the bus, which had just left the school, was injured in the mishap. Glidden said the bus was almost stopped when the crash occurred.

Police said they learned Ashcraft had left school a little early and then driven to Solsberry. They said he was returning to the school for a cross country meet when the crash occurred.

Request Made To Great Britain

LONDON UPI—The United States has asked Britain to maintain its military strength in Malaysia because of widening troubles in Viet Nam and other parts of Asia, diplomatic sources said today.

The sources said the United States was opposed to a threatened reduction of the British military posture in Malaysia following the departure of Singapore from the federation.

U. S. Undersecretary of State George W. Ball reviewed the Southeast Asia situation in his confidential talks with Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart here earlier this week.

It was understood that Wilson would discuss the important implications of Britain's "East of Suez" policy and the need for defense savings in talks with President Johnson when he visits the United States, probably next month, to speak before the United Nations General Assembly.

The United States wish for Britain to maintain its military force in Malaysia was said to stem from a growing conviction that the Viet Nam war may go on for some time and that chances for a settlement in the near future are remote.

Goldberg, King Hold Conference

NEW YORK UPI—Negro leader Martin Luther King put aside civil rights problems today to discuss his Viet Nam ideas with Arthur J. Goldberg, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Goldberg invited King to meet with him in New York after the Nobel Prize winner became an outspoken advocate for peace in Viet Nam. King promised to plead his case directly to President Johnson and also with leaders in North Viet Nam, Communist China, the Soviet Union and Saigon.

The Goldberg-King meeting was scheduled at 10 a. m. EDT at U. S. Mission headquarters, directly across the street from the United Nations complex.

U. S. delegation sources said the meeting was in keeping with Goldberg's desire to discuss world problems with religious, civic and political leaders.

They said Goldberg had invited King to express his views on Viet Nam and world peace in general. They also said Goldberg wanted to explain U. S. policy to King.

Roofs soared into the air. The tip of the 1,100-seat Tulane ballroom in the famed Jung Hotel tore off.

But downstairs in the sung Fiesta Room, people lined the bar three deep and listened to "The Saints Go Marching In" from a piano player.

Radio and television stations went on and off the air as power failed, then went back on. Some switched to emergency power.

The mighty moss-draped oaks that made green avenues of New Orleans streets lost their limbs with sharp cracks. Trees littered the streets.

A Public Service, Inc., official reported 90 per cent of the city without power, but some lights fed by underground cables, remained on downtown.

The weather bureau warned of a possible "tornado or two" in southern Mississippi and southwest Alabama.

Rains up to 10 inches were forecast—although Betsy was a "dry" storm, carrying less water than most of her predecessors.

Authorities said not a single child aboard the bus, which had just left the school, was injured in the mishap. Glidden said the bus was almost stopped when the crash occurred.

Police said they learned Ashcraft had left school a little early and then driven to Solsberry. They said he was returning to the school for a cross country meet when the crash occurred.

Russia, United States In Complete Agreement

By United Press International

The United States and Russia are in the unusual position of agreeing on a major issue—both are very anxious to find a way to end the war between India and Pakistan.

A principal reason for this identity of views, beyond humanitarian considerations, is that Washington and Moscow both realize that Red China stands to be the chief beneficiary of the convulsion on the Asian subcontinent.

Each deplors this possibility although their reasons differ.

Russia, locked in a struggle with Red China for domination of international communism has watched with concern the extension of Peking's influence over Pakistan. Moscow fears that expansion of Peking's prestige will heighten Red China's support among Communist parties in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

The United States, fighting a desperate battle against Communist-led forces in Viet Nam, fears that continued chaos on Red China's southern flank may tempt Peking to move in that direction.

U. S. officials are beginning to believe the tide in Viet Nam has turned in their favor. But any such success would be virtually nullified by a major Chinese move south, outflanking U. S. and British positions in Southeast Asia.

Red China, in addition to supporting Pakistan against what Peking calls "naked aggression" by India, also has charged New Delhi with nine invasions of Red territory in the past two months.

Considered against a background for China's successful military occupation of several chunks of Indian territory in the rugged Himalayan border area in 1962, Peking's new statements have an ominous sound to U. S. officials.

Thus the bitter strife over the disputed princely state of Kashmir, which flared into fighting spanning the subcontinent, has injected new uncertainty into an already perilous situation.

The United States has supplied billions of dollars in aid to India and Pakistan to keep their economies afloat since they were granted independence in 1947. Continued fighting is bound to shatter the progress made on the economic front and, presumably, require even heavier American contributions to prevent widespread suffering among the 600 million inhabitants of the vast area. The second largest contributor of aid to the two nations, both military and economic, is the Soviet Union. Yet the two most powerful nations in the world, to whom India and Pakistan are most deeply indebted, appear powerless at the moment to persuade the combatants to stop fighting.

Right To Work Bill In Senate

WASHINGTON UPI—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today the Senate would push ahead with President Johnson's bill to nullify state "right to work" laws despite the threat of a paralyzing filibuster.

Asked whether the measure's supporters could muster the strength needed to muzzle the "extended debate," the Montana lawmaker said only, "we'll cross our bridges as we come to them."

Mansfield's opposite number, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, made the filibuster threat official Thursday after a meeting of the Senate-House GOP leadership. He told newsmen at least 25 senators from both parties would organize a talk campaign to "keep this thing from coming to a vote."

"If the President insists on Senate consideration of the repeal of section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act this year, the present session of Congress will end, not with a bang in the fall, but with a whimper when the snow falls," said Dirksen.

Then, in a comment aimed straight at the White House, the Illinois Republican said: "There are dangers in the indiscriminate use of presidential power to compel action from a reluctant Congress—particular-

Hoffa's Union Handed Setback

WASHINGTON UPI—A national mediation board ruling has dealt a setback to Teamsters' President James R. Hoffa's adm may end in the loss of 35,000 members for the big truck union.

The board directed an election to see if an estimated 35,000 employees of Rea Express, Inc., want to be represented by the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks (AFL-CIO) or the unaffiliated Teamsters.

Since about 30,000 of the total already belong to the clerks' union the outcome of balloting almost certainly would end Teamsters' bargaining rights in eight cities.

Hoffa fought the clerks' demand for an election, partly on grounds that a 1937 "no-raiding" agreement between the two unions should not be disturbed by either side.

TV CAMEOS: Beauty Pageant

Here She Is Again—Miss America

By ED MISURELL

COME Saturday night, Sept. 11, the "Miss America Pageant," a program that captures more viewers than any other in television, will be telecast from 10 p.m. to midnight for the ninth consecutive year over the CBS network.

Today's professionally slick pageant, sponsored at great cost by big companies and bigger corporations, is the proverbial far cry from the first Miss America contest which took place in 1921. At that time a group of eastern newspaper managers conceived the idea of running contests to select the most popular young girl in each of their cities. As a prize, the winner of each of the competitions was to receive a week's vacation in Atlantic City, N.J.

AFTER a number of conferences the Hotelmen's Association and a group of civic leaders agreed to participate. A committee was formed to run the first Atlantic City contest during the week following Labor Day. A local reporter, Herb Test, suggested that the winner of the bathing revue contest be known as "Miss America."

The 1921 competition was held on the beach with some eight cities and states participating. Contestants came from Pittsburgh, Washington, Camden, New York, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Ocean City and Newark, and were judged for beauty of face and form. The winner was a 16-year-old, blue-eyed blonde named Margaret Gorman of Washington, D.C. Her statistics — the first of many to find their way into the nation's newspapers — were: height, five feet, one inch; bust, 30 inches; waist 25 inches; hips, 32 inches; weight, 108 pounds. She was the smallest girl ever to capture the much sought-after crown.

THE POPULARITY with which the contest was greeted did not go unnoticed by civic leaders in the New Jersey resort city. By September 1922, it was better organized. Among the competitive divisions that year were an amateur bathing beauty contest, a professional bathing beauty contest, and an inter-city bathing beauty contest. The winner in this latter category, who was awarded the Miss America title, was Mary Catherine Campbell of Columbus, Ohio.

Typical of many winners, Vonda Kay Van Dyke weeps tears of joy after being chosen Miss America 1965.

The winner's trophy consisted of a black teakwood base with a gold mermaid lying on a piece of granite rock, surrounded by a series of gold shells. It was valued at $5,000. It was intended as a perpetual trophy. The previous Miss America was to be invited back to protect her title, and if she won three years in succession was to keep the award permanently.

Miss America 1922 repeated her triumph in 1923, defeating some 57 inter-city contestants, all of whom had been selected by newspapers. In 1924, the year in which The Most Beautiful Girl in Evening Dress event was introduced, Mary Catherine Campbell lost to Ruth Malcomson of Philadelphia.

This prompted the Pageant board of directors to change their policy regarding winners. They decided to present each previous Miss America title holder with a trophy, and to limit a winner's reign to one year.

During the late 1920s, the pageant continued to grow. But money problems and the depression that hit the world prompted ed its cancellation in 1928 and it wasn't held again until 1933. Again financial problems arose and the contest was discontinued for a year. Revived again in 1935, it has continued without interruption up to the present.

With the growth of the pageant came bigger prizes for the winners. Since 1945 when the scholarship program was created by executive director Leonora Slaughter, a total of $675,975 has been awarded to winners at the national finals in Atlantic City. In the same 20-year period, the 3,500 local and state pageants have distributed more than $5,000,000 in scholarship monies.

The climactic moment draws close. As midnight approaches on Sept. 11, Vonda Kay Van Dyke, of Phoenix, Ariz., Miss America 1965, will place the crown upon the head of one of the beauties from 50 states. As the lovely winner walks up the long runway in Convention Hall in Atlantic City, millions of viewers will once again hear the lilting but exciting strains of the familiar melody—"There She Is—Miss America."

Could This Be One Of Your Entertainment Problems?

WASHINGTON UPI—It was early in the summer that I first noticed something was wrong.

My wife and I were having a party on our patio, I was being my usual scintillating self, spilling drinks with gay abandon and playing "Bonaparte's Retreat" on my bugle. But for some reason the party was an awful flop.

The guests were ill at ease. Stand-offish. Nobody had a good time.

The next time we entertained it was even worse. Most of the people we invited sent regrets. Others accepted but didn't come. The few who did show up made excuses and left before dinner.

My wife and I were terribly upset. I began losing weight and she developed a rash. The worst thing was not knowing what had damaged our reputation as host and hostess.

We might have gone on like that indefinitely, brooding over some unidentified faux pas or contretemps, had I not received a press release from a chemical company in California.

With one blunt, challenging question, it put the finger right on our problem.

"Is your garbage can socially acceptable?" it asked.

Instantly I knew that this was where we had made our mistake. My wife and I had always selected our garbage cans for utility, rather than for charm and grace.

The press release went on to say, "there's something about a garbage can that makes it the unwanted guest—the social flop—at any backyard, porch or patio get-together."

"Generally, garbage cans are just not very pleasant items to be around," it added with ex-vindicating frankness.

Being told that your garbage can is a party-pooper gives you a bit of a shock, but I am grateful to the company for dropping the hint.

"I also was delighted to learn that 'a way has been found to make your garbage can a lot more 'socially acceptable.'"

According to the press release, the secret is to make sure you use a new aerosol garbage can spray deodorant before your next outdoor soiree.

When we have a patio party, I usually have a few garbage cans around for use as extra chairs. They are quite comfortable if you turn the lids upside down.

But believe me I'll take no more chances with "G.O."

Plenty Of Rest For Youngsters Will Improve Their School Grades

CHICAGO (UPI) — A well-rested child is a more alert child in school.

No one argues with the premise, but how to see that the youngster gets rest, plus his homework and play?

The solution could be in giving him a study area in his bedroom, instead of expecting him to do his homework in the kitchen or dining room.

Privacy, quiet and good lighting, held toward better grades.

To provide these, the Spring Air Mattress Co., talked with experts on room planning for the school child. They suggested:

—The desk or study table in the bedroom, and the desk with a light-colored top to avoid eye strain that can occur when writing paper and books are seen against a dark surface.

—If two children share a room, provide each a study table or desk. These should be separated so the children do not face each other when studying.

—Provide a wall shelf or bookcase where handy reference books such as a dictionary and almanac can be reached easily.

—Each child should have a separate bed with a mattress that gives proper support. Don't expect your child to get a good rest on a hand-me-down mattress.

—If space is a problem, consider bunk beds that later can be separated to make two twin-size beds.

—Encourage the children to keep their combination bedroom-study neat by providing adequate storage. Under-bed chests are one answer to take care of the clutter that normally accumulates.

—For good lighting conditions, the walls of the bedroom should be light colored. Each desk should have its own lamp. If the child reads in bed, a wall or table lamp should be provided.

Children will generally take better care of their bedroom if they have some say in furnishing it. Let them at least put up wall decorations, such as pictures, pennants, and plaques, to their liking.

HOLLYWOOD NEWS

By Vernon Scott

HOLLYWOOD UPI — The stormy, oft-criticized Emmy awards will present an entirely new format to television viewers Sunday night at the annual presentations for excellence in video programming.

The show will be telecast nationally via NBC on the eve of the new television season, as contrasted to previous springtime award ceremonies held at the end of the television year.

This year the 17-year-old presentations will be made in four broad areas:

1. Outstanding program achievements in entertainment shows.

2. Outstanding individual achievements in entertainment actors.

3. Outstanding achievements in news, documentaries, and sports.

4. Outstanding individual achievements in news, documentaries, and sports.

In the past the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences was torn by internal strife over a welter of categories and public outcry at the confusion and conflict inherent in the awards system.

Under the leadership of writer Rod Sterling, current academy president, the Emmys have been simplified but there are still currents of dissatisfaction about lumping diverse programs and performances into overall categories.

The two entertainment categories hold the most interest for viewers.

The show will beam from Hollywood's Palladium with Danny Thomas as host and from New York's Hilton Hotel with Sammy Davis acting as emcee at 10 p. m. EDT. Some coast showings will be on a delayed basis at 10 p. m. EDT.

AEROSPACE GAINS

NEW YORK (UPI)—Significant gains in both units and dollar value of aerospace export sales were attained during the first half of 1965, compared to the corresponding 1964 period.

The figures, based on data compiled by the Aerospace Industries Association and the Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, showed the largest increase was in foreign sales of rotary-wing aircraft. Units shipped nearly tripled the total for the first six months of 1964, rising from 38 to 95. Simultaneously, dollar values in the first half of 1965 increased 156 per cent, climbing to more than $18 million from $7 million in the same period of 1964.

YANKS BIGGEST PAPER USERS

ANDERSON, Calif. UPI — Americans have the biggest appetites in the world — for information and knowledge, according to a veteran paper industry executive. John R. Kimberly says that the United States, with 6 per cent of the world's population, accounts for 41 per cent of the consumption of paper to print on an write on.

Kimberly, president of Kimberly-Clark Corp., said the average American this year will consume 166 pounds of printed paper material (books, newspapers, etc.) while the figure for the rest of the world is a mere 24 pounds per person.

Hopeful News About Arthritis

THE stiff aching joints that plague people with arthritis are being relieved of pain by a new and welcome drug.

Early studies performed at the University of Colorado by Dr. Charles J. Smyth show that "the beneficial effects are quite definite." About 250 cases of rheumatoid arthritis were treated with the experimental drug Indomethacin.

Its effect on the painful joints was studied in a series of carefully planned experiments. Dr. Smyth and his colleagues accurately measured the swellings of the hands and feet before and after the drug was used. Jewelers' rings were used to measure changes in the swelling of the joints.

Other patients with rheumatoid arthritis were treated with a variety of other drugs including cortisone to find the most effective one. In this study, many of the cases were benefited most by Indomethacin.

This drug, as with all new drugs, is being carefully observed for any possible toxic effects on patients. Safety is the most important factor in all scientific research.

The drug is being critically evaluated even though the present feeling is that it is a promising one for victims of arthritis.

Readers' Related Questions

Q. What are the most common forms of arthritis? How are they different?

A. Rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis are the most common forms. They are both included in the general classification of "rheumatism."

Rheumatoid arthritis is a disease that occurs chiefly in young adults before the age of 40 years. In many instances attacks of pain and swelling of the joints come and go, apparently without reason. Sometimes an attack is set off by an acute infection or even by severe emotional stress.

Osteoarthritis is a disease that occurs most in middle-aged and elderly people. Changes occur in many of the joints of the body and limit them in their complete comfortable movement.

Q. Is gout a form of arthritis?

A. Gout is considered a highly specialized form of arthritis. Gout is commonly considered a disease that involves only one joint, the big toe. Actually, it involves many parts of the body.

The successful response to diet and drugs is dramatic in gouty type of arthritis.

Q. Is physical exercise beneficial to arthritis patients?

A. Physical therapy, active and passive exercise are most comforting in most forms of arthritis.

All physical activity must be custom designed by a physician for each individual in order to obtain its maximum benefit.

These columns are designed to relieve your fears about health through a better understanding of your mind and body. All the hopeful new advances in medicine reported here are known to doctors everywhere.

Financial Gossip

By William D. Laffler

NEW YORK UPI — Julien R. Steelman was an ordinary California farm boy who became an extraordinary business man.

Steelman, 59, president of Koehring Co. in Milwaukee, rose to the top of his field by hard work and willingness to make sacrifices. Even today, as a corporation giant, Steelman refuses to take it easy.

"I feel I owe it to our stockholders to put in a full day's work," Steelman told UPI recently in an interview. He was here to address the New York Society of Security Analysts.

By working from eight to 12 hours a day, Steelman sets an example in diligence for the approximately 5,200 workers employed by Koehring, one of the nation's leading manufacturers of construction machinery.

"We have a good esprit de corps," Steelman said. "And I would prefer to have a man with average intelligence who is willing to learn than a Harvard genius who won't do anything."

Steelman was able to tell the security analysts that Koehring's 1965 sales will rise to probably $145 million this year with profits between $7.5 million and $7.75 million. And he predicted "high demand well into 1966" for almost all his company's products, which now includes forms for making plastic milk bottles and plastic bottle caps.

But Steelman can remember when a $1 bill was a lot of money in his pocket.

As a boy Steelman spent most of his time hunting and fishing and it was only natural that he would be devoted to the wide open space.

So he took his first job in 1930 on an outdoors project, working for the American Bridge Co. The pay was not high but it was a start.

"After four years I wanted to move into another area so I got into the TVA," Steelman said. "I had two years of wonderful experience working on construction design."

Then Steelman got acquainted with C. S. Johnson, who manufactured concrete mixing equipment.

"Mr. Johnson offered me a job as head of sales at a low salary, which didn't bother me at that time," Steelman said.

In 1940, after Johnson died, Steelman took over management of the plant.

A few years later, the Koehring Co., which owned 60 per cent of the C. S. Johnson Company's stock, asked Steelman to take charge of sales of the parent corporation and made him a vice president.

"In 1946, we were tooled to expand," Steelman said.

Steelman became president of Koehring in 1952 and under his leadership Koehring has become one of the nation's healthiest corporations.

Cooper Describes Trip

SPACE CENTER, Houston UPI — Gemini 5 Astronaut Gordon Cooper, as calm as though discussing a fishing trip Thursday described for the world his record-setting flight with copilot Charles Pete Conrad from an "almost perfect" start to the problems that almost forced them down too soon.

At the news conference which wound up their formal 11-day "debriefing" after the eight-day voyage, the 28-year-old Cooper said the liftoff from Cape Kennedy August 21, was "very smooth... positive."

"Neither one of us felt there was any doubt" as the Titan-2 rocket and its capsule — 109 feet overall — soared into the heavens, Cooper said.

"The Gemini launch vehicle is a real Cadillac," he said.

"The entire trajectory was almost as perfect as any trajectory could be."

Conrad reported he was more nervous facing newsmen in the manned spacecraft center's auditorium than when he was thundering into space.

"I think my heart rate's a lot higher here than it was at liftoff," he said.

Just before they spoke, Dr. Robert Seamans, assistant space agency director, reported the capsule for the one-day Gemini 6 flight had been "mated" to its booster rocket at Cape Kennedy. The flight is scheduled for about Oct. 25 with astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford aboard. It will attempt to link up for the first time with another satellite in space.

Cooper reported he himself made the decision to abandon attempts to come close to a rendezvous evaluation pod (REP) ejected from the Gemini 5 spacecraft on its second orbit. Problems with the oxygen feed to the fuel cells providing electric power had begun.

"I made the decision we should power down reduce electric power," Cooper said calmly. "We would use the fuel cell oxygen in as small amounts as possible."

King-Size Beds Keep Growing

SAN FRANCISCO UPI — Beds of the future will be so large the current king-size beds will seem small.

Grant G. Simmons Jr., president of Simmons Co., discussed the future of bedding with furniture detailers at a local convention.

"Americans are no longer contented to sleep on a simple slab," he said.

Not only will new beds be larger, but also they will be adjustable. "A combination of head up or feet up, or something in the middle, rather like a hospital bed, is the coming thing," Simmons said.

He acknowledged that a few snags remain to be smoothed out.

"We can have dual controls, as with electric blankets, if the husband wants feet up and she prefers head up and feet down. But then what about bed linen?"

Another reason for huge beds — bedrooms are becoming the second living room, said Irving F. Harris, vice-president of Serta Associates, of San Francisco.

Many families are watching television from their beds. "Television bedroom watching demands a super-size bed of top quality," Harris said. "The beds of 1950 won't do any more. Now the kiddies are joining their parents in bed."

Hold Line On Prices: Ackley

PHILADELPHIA UPI — Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, appealed Thursday to U. S. businessmen to hold the line on prices. He left little doubt that he was thinking particularly of the nation's steelmakers.

The administration is anxious to prevent a general increase in steel prices, following last week's contract settlement between the United Steelworkers and the steel industry.

Speaking in general terms, Ackley said he relied on "the good sense of American businessmen and their respect for the national interest" to avoid price hikes in as much as labor and material costs are basically stable.

THE U.S. decided that Russia doesn't have to pay up in the U.N. after all. Apparently this is our new if-you-can't-lick 'em-join 'em policy.

It's the peace keeping operations the Russians refuse to pay for. They probably feel they've done enough just helping to get the trouble stirred up.

It's not surprising that Russia held out against paying for peace keeping. It's very difficult to get people to pay for something they don't want.

Ambassador Goldberg said "the consensus of the membership is that the Assembly should proceed normally." The Marines call this "advancing to the rear."

The U.N. hopes for enough voluntary contributions. They're passing the helmet.

The Soviet announced it would not contribute if there is any question of losing its vote. Evidently the Soviet feels it would be feeding the hand that bites it.

The U.S. agreeing that the 13 debtor nations don't have to pay isn't a great surprise. After all, this doesn't make them exceptions.

Best Percentage Play Doesn't Always Work

By Alfred Sheinwold

One the joys of being a bridge expert is that now and then a pretty girl gives you her hand — and asks you how you would play it. It's not always as pleasant as you might think.

Opening lead — ♣ Q

A pert little blonde showed me the South hand and the dummy, and asked me how to play the hand at six hearts.

"I don't like the contract," I demurred. "You're too high at six."

"How can you stop any lower?" she demanded. "Are you a man or a mouse?"

There is only one answer to this question: I am a mouse. But I don't give that answer to pert blondes unless my wife is standing by.

The percentage play, I explained, is to win the club opening, draw trumps, cash all the clubs and spades, ending in rummy, and lead a low diamond. You get an end play if East has both the king and queen and in a few other cases.

WOULD LOSE

"You would do down," the young lady pointed out tartly. "I made the slam"

Our heroine won the club, took the ace of diamonds at once, and drew trumps. Then she cashed the spades and clubs and led a diamond. East had neglected to drop the king of diamonds, so had to win and give declarer a ruff-and-sluff.

The odds were slightly more than 2 to 1 against my play, but they were about 5 to 1 against the young lady's play. Still, her play worked and mine did not.

"Are you sure you're the real Mr. Sheinwold?" she asked. "You must be his father."

There's a moral in this little tale. Don't bid risky slams, and don't talk to strange young ladies.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade and the next player passes. You hold: S-A 4 3 H-Q 10 9 7 6 D-A 4 3 C-K 4. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts. If partner rebids the spades, you will raise to four spades. If he raises the hearts, you will go on to game in that suit. Otherwise, you plan to bid game in notrump.

RECORD TRAVEL TO CARIBBEAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Travel to Caribbean islands set new records in 1964, according to preliminary figures released by the Caribbean Travel Association. The number of visitors totaled 1,339,257, a rise of 39 per cent or more than 373,774 above the previous year.

The figures do not include the islands of St. Vincent, Trinidad and Tobago, nor cruise passengers, for which statistics are still incomplete.

BATTLE VS. POVERTY HEADS FOR TROUBLE

COMPLAINTS PILE UP RE SARGENT SHRIVER

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—One of President Johnson's pet programs—the fight against poverty—is in trouble on Capitol Hill, as well as across the nation. The President is being brought under increasing pressure to reorganize the agency handling it at the top.

Whether or not it is the cause of the difficulty, congressmen are mounting attacks on Sargent Shriver, the agency head who also wears a second hat as head of the Peace Corps. These congressmen, and more and more of them are from President Johnson's own Democratic Party, are urging that Shriver be removed from one of the two positions, with the implication that they would like to see a new poverty program.

Until recently, this demand for Shriver's removal came from Republicans and had been viewed as a political plot. But Democrats who lined up with the administration to beat back this Republican effort just a few weeks ago are now having some second thoughts themselves.

These Democrats complain that Shriver is not administering the program in line with congressional intent, particularly the so-called community action program. They insist that it should be conducted in connection with individual action groups in a given community rather than with an overall committee, and that the activity should be purely of a neighborhood character, rather than community wide.

Behind this complaint is the fact that Shriver is responsible for handing out millions of dollars for spending locally by these action groups, and it has to a disturbing extent become a new kind of political pork barrel.

Shriver recently met with a group of these congressmen in what was described in some quarters as a "knock-down, drag out affair." The final outcome has not been determined, but behind the complaints is the implied threat to Shriver to clean up the mess or get out.

● ELECTRONIC AGE—Washington officials have just put 28 special scout cars on the city's streets. They are unique. They are driven and operated by one policeman each instead of two.

In order to save on manpower the scout cars have some unusual features. They include special writing consoles, special sirens whose noises can be varied, electronically controlled flashing lights and spotlights and, most novel of all, outside radio speakers.

The speakers are designed so that the policeman in charge can hear the radio, even if he is outside the vehicle. The speakers can also be converted for use as loudspeakers for crowd control.

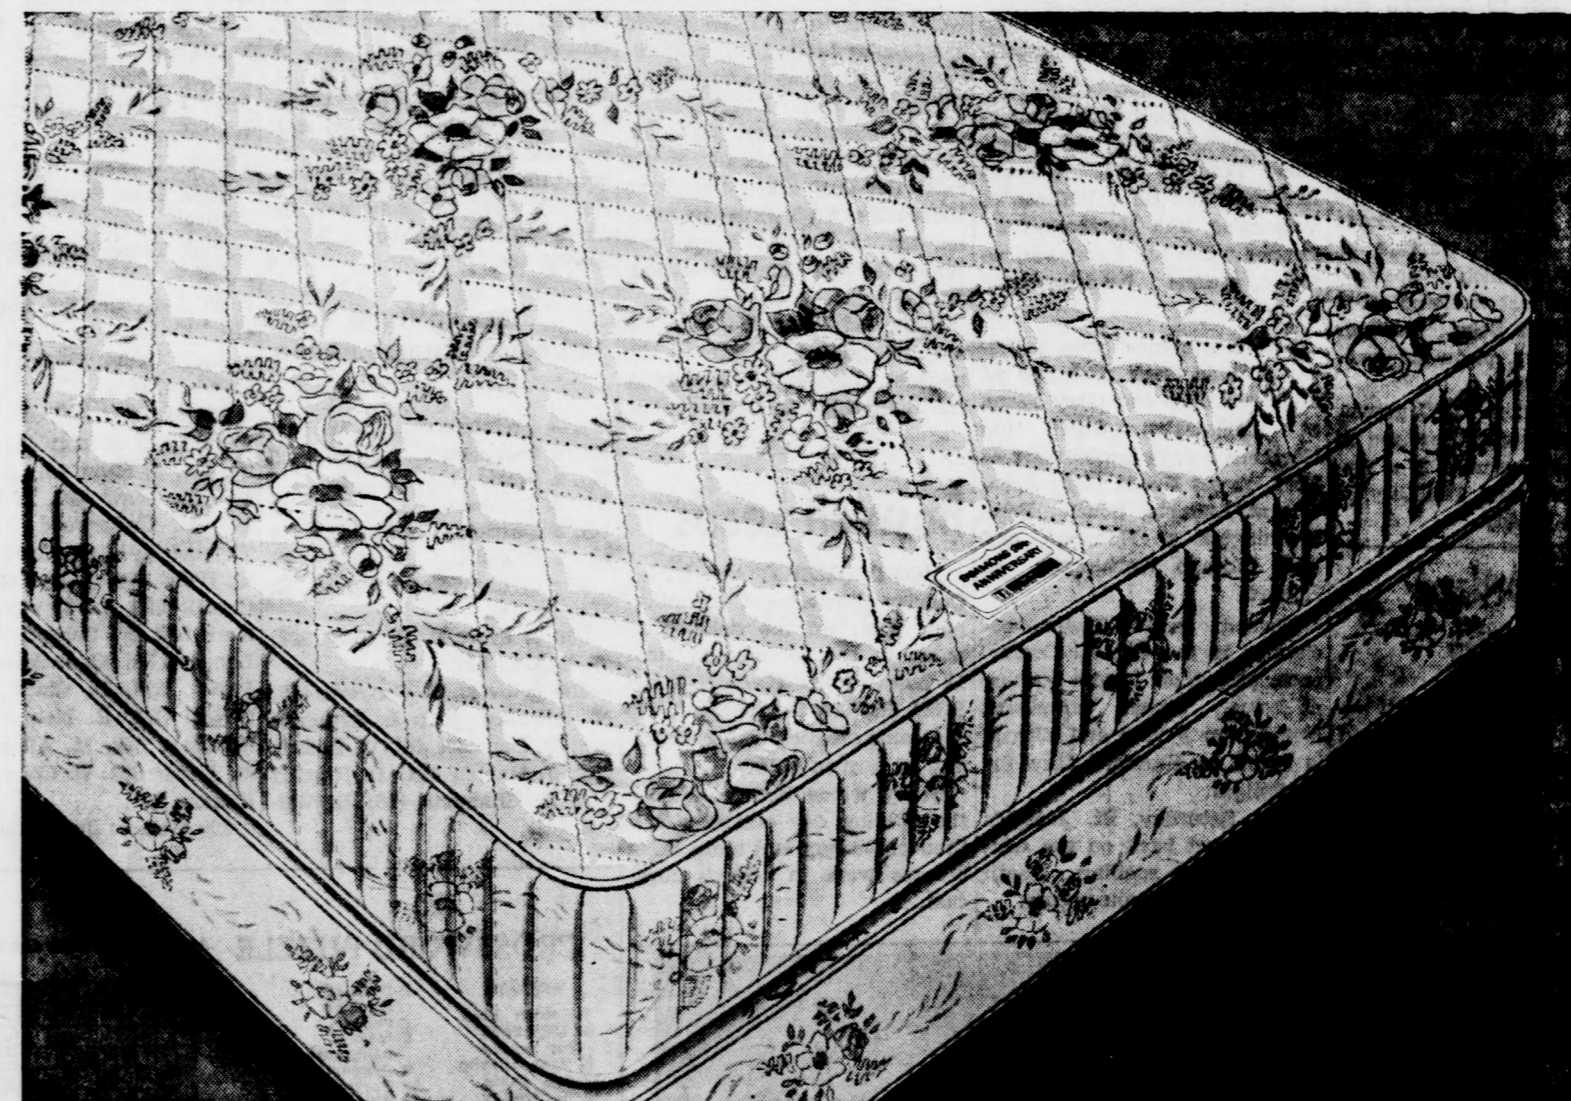

High police officials are proud of the new vehicles and look toward great economy in manpower use in the years ahead. Some members of the force aren't quite so enthusiastic about the idea. They like the comfort of company in some of Washington's tougher, high-crime-rate precincts.

Local Thin-Clads Defeat Rockville

The fleet-footed Greencastle High School Cross Country team placed six men in the top ten runners to grasp enough points to defeat their host Rockville in their cross country season opener Wednesday evening, 31-25.

Rockville's agile runner David Long clipped off a fast winning time of 11:40 to lead all runners and capture the first place ribbon.

Mike Bloese, Greencastle's top-cat runner thus far this season, captured second place with Troyer and Phillips following up for close third and fourth place positions.

Jim Shonkwiler, Terry Dowty and Jake Surber added the needed scoring to the GHS tallies to give the Tiger Cubs their first meet in as many tries of the season.

The Cubs next meet will be Friday when perennially strong Linton and Bainbridge challenge the Cub pace at 5:15 on the home course.

Finishing positions were: 1st, Long (R); 2nd, Bloese, (G); 3rd, Troyer, (G); 4th, Phillips, (G); 5th, Warmouth, (R); 6th, Jeffries, (R); 7th, Shonkwiler, (G); 8th, Newton, (R); 9th, Dowty, (G); 10th, Surber, (G).

Boswell Leads

MONTGOMERY, Ala. UPI—Charley Boswell of Birmingham, Ala., led the field of 15 today in the second and final 18 holes of the U. S. National Blind Golfers Tournament. He overcame erratic putting Thursday to turn in a 100.

Gusty winds interfered with the opening day action as a n d thundershowers and more brisk breezes were in today's forecast.

St. Joseph Remains Only Unbeaten Football Power

Indiana's high school football campaign shifts into high gear this week with the Southern Conference powers.

By next week, conference warfare will be in full swing all around the state.

Most of last year's unbeaten who opened their seasons last week came through unscathed. Among the exceptions were defending mythical state champ South Bend St. Joseph's and Warsaw, one of the 10-game winners.

St. Joe lost to Elkhart, 8-6, while Warsaw had to settle for a 12-12 standoff against Warsaw, a former Central Conference foe.

Defending champs in the Southern and Western Conferences open Friday with league games. Evansville Boeser launches SIAC warfare at Booneville, which sparked North Knox last weekend, 41-0.

Terre Haute Schulte, winner in the Western, plays its opener at West Vigo.

In other better SIAC games, North clashes with Harrison at Evansville, Vincennes is a Evansville Reitz and Tell City at Jasper, all Friday.

Defeats Portland Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY UPI—Oklahoma City beat Portland 4-3 Thursday night to take a 2-0 lead in the best of seven playoff series between the winners of the Eastern and Western Divisions of the Pacific Coast League.

Peggy Wilson Leads After 18

EUGENE, Ore. UPI — Most of the other touring women professionals were kidding Peggy Wilson today that their short games would probably improve, too, if they took six weeks off from the competitive golf.

Miss Wilson, returning to the tour Thursday after a six-week rest, shot an even-par 72 to take the lead after 18 holes of the $10,000 Pacific Ladies Golf Classic.

The Austin, Tex., veteran said failure to pace herself in the early going this season resulted in exhaustion — both mental and physical — and forced her off the LPGA circuit.

ATTENTION

AJBC Board of Directors

There will be a meeting Saturday, Sept. 11, at 1:30 p.m. at Varsity Lanes. All members are urged to attend as this is the organization meeting for the new season. Please contact Pat Huxford if unable to attend.

To Alexander, Mathewson, Feller, Johnson, Hubbell and Young, to all the pitchers who have preceded Sandy Koufax: "Mover over." Sandy Koufax has earned the title "king of pitchers."

Even the fabulous records of those immortal greats, even their legends cannot match the pitching achievements of 29-year-old Sandy Koufax, who became the first lefthander ever to win a perfect game and the first major league pitcher in history to hurl four no-hit, no-run games when the Los Angeles Dodgers' perfectionist beat the Chicago Cubs 1-0 Thursday night.

The miracle of the flawless gem over the Cubs looms even greater because Koufax' career has been in jeopardy for the last six months since he incurred traumatic arthritis in his left elbow.

Koufax struck out 14 men including the last six batters in a row to boost his season's total to 332—just 16 short of the major league record set by Bob Feller in 1946. With perfect control and a blazing fast ball, Koufax was hit hard only once, when Byron Brown of the Cubs spanked a line drive which Dodger centerfielder Willie Davis caught waist high.

"I knew I had the no-hitter all along," Koufax said. "But it never entered my mind it might be a perfect game."

Bob Hendley, the losing pitcher for the Cubs, also had a no-hitter until the seventh inning when Lou Johnson doubled for the only hit off Hendley, just recently recalled from the minor leagues. The only run came in the fifth when Johnson walked, moved to second on Ron Fairly's sacrifice bunt, stole third and scored when catcher Chris Krug's wild throw went into left field.

The victory enabled the Dodgers to remain a half game behind the National League-leading San Francisco Giants, who blanked Houston 4-0. Cincinnati whipped New York 3-2 in the only other NL game played. Philadelphia at Milwaukee was postponed because of rain.

In the American League, Minnesota tripped Chicago 10-4 and California belted Kansas City 7-2 in the only games scheduled.

Koufax' no-hitter was the third pitched this season in the major leagues. Jim Maloney of Cincinnati hurled the other two, losing a 10-inning decision 1-0 to the New York Mets on June 14, and beating the Cubs 1-0 also in 10 innings on Aug. 19.

In addition to equalling the major league strikeout record for a single (18) game twice on Aug. 31, 1959 against the Giants and on April 24, 1962 against the Cubs, Koufax tossed no-hitters against the Mets on June 30, 1962; against the Giants on May 11, 1963 and on June 4, 1964 against the Phillies.

WALKING WILLIAMS

BOSTON (UPI) — Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox received 33 intentional walks during the 1957 season, a major league record.
